SCALING RESPONSIBLE INNOVATION IN LENDING FOR UNDERSERVED COMMUNITIES IN EMERGING MARKETS

Small businesses are the heartbeat that pump vitality into local economies. They are the neighborhood shops and service providers that make a community function, creating local jobs and employing millions. Despite the economic and social value that small businesses generate, they frequently remain invisible to mainstream financial institutions.

Launched in 2021, CIM's emerging markets strategy brings CIM's successful financial track record in the U.S. to emerging markets. The strategy seeks to deliver on-market, risk-adjusted returns and positive social impact by investing in financial technology (fintech) companies that expand access to capital in traditionally underserved communities by providing innovative, responsible credit products. The investment approach is to provide strategic asset-backed debt facilities to fuel the growth of fintech lending partners, and in turn, broaden the reach of their responsible loan products. By helping these fintech partners scale, CIM aims to catalyze a more inclusive financial system for micro, small and medium enterprises ("MSMEs") and low and middle-income households.

INVESTMENT THESIS	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Provides strategic debt funding to fintech companies offering credit products that address the financing gap between banks and high-cost alternative lenders in emerging markets Lending partners work with MSMEs and low-income borrowers underserved by the traditional banking sector
ILLUSTRATIVE INVESTMENT	Konfio is a financial technology organization based in Mexico, a country with a well-regulated banking system but a fragmented lending market. Small and medium enterprises (SMEs) in Mexico constitute 97% of all companies and 88% of all formal private sector employment, yet these businesses are underserved by traditional banks. To date, Konfio has offered two product lines: software-as-a-service (SaaS) solutions for SMEs and larger corporates, as well as credit products for SMEs. The company offers solutions by providing a 100% digital credit process with a hybrid underwriting approach that uses both traditional data as well as non-traditional data to calculate an instant credit score, loan decision and risk-based pricing. CIM's partnership with Konfio provides capital for the growth of its credit card product for SMEs, addressing the "missing middle" segment between personal credit cards (high interest rates) and traditional corporate credit cards (high qualification barriers). With technology to assess creditworthiness in a cost-efficient manner, Konfio is well-poised to serve SMEs who require smaller business loan sizes.
STRENGTHS	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Extension of a performing and proven U.S.-based lending strategy Income-generating impact debt option that offers both high yield for an emerging markets strategy and liquidity features. Investment strategy provides strong risk management via highly structured asset-backed credit facilities that include risk-sharing mechanisms and bankruptcy remoteness. Robust process in place to deal with and effectively hedge currency risk, given volatility and cycles in currencies are a permanent fixture in many of CIM emerging markets strategy's target markets.
RISKS	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Ability to assess the CIM emerging markets strategy team's cohesion is limited as the team is comprised of several new hires, including on its leadership team. This is mitigated by the fact that the strategy has 1.5 years of investing track record and team operations since launch. Governance structures are still under development, requiring improvements to the Investment Committee and the establishment of an LPAC for the emerging markets strategy. This is mitigated by the CIM emerging market's strategy team's willingness to engage with investors in constructive dialogue around governance, and these changes are currently in progress.
